

Award-Winning AML Publication Recognizes Outstanding Contributors in the AML & Financial Crime Detection and Prevention Field at Annual Conference in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS – September 30, 2014 – The ACAMS Today, the award-winning publication of the Association of Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists (ACAMS) recognized several individuals for their contributions to the magazine at the 13th Annual AML & Financial Crime Conference in Las Vegas today in a special presentation.

“Each year, we recognize authors whose articles have made a great impact on our members and the whole community,” said Karla Monterrosa-Yancey, CAMS, ACAMS Today Editor-in-Chief. “As a member-driven publication, we rely on the commitment of our volunteer writers. This year alone, we’ve won three awards, which is indeed a testament to our contributor’s dedication and quality of work. We’re honored to present these awards a token of our appreciation.”

Winners this year include:

- Brian Arrington, CAMS, Examiner with the Federal Reserve, Bank of Chicago, for the article, How Valuable is Your Risk Assessment?
- First Class Clayton Byford, CAMS, CFCS, Counter Threat Finance Analyst
- Illinois National Guard Counter Drug Task Force for the article, How Valuable is Your Risk Assessment?
- Carol Stabile, CAMS, Senior Business Manager, Safe Banking Systems for the article, Risk Modeling for Improved AML and Compliance

ACAMS Today is a quarterly member-driven magazine offering the latest training, practical solutions, emerging challenges and legislative, regulatory and international developments affecting the financial crimes community.

The winners were recognized this morning during a special presentation in front of 2,000 industry peers. For information on previous winners, visit acamsglobal.org.
