Association of Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists Launches New Terrorist Financing Resource Website

MIAMI, Fla., May 1, 2015 – The Association of Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists (ACAMS) announces the launch of its new terrorist financing resource website as a tool for anti-money laundering and counter terrorist financing (AML/CTF) professionals to stay informed of the latest trends and typologies in the field.

The new terrorist financing resource site is a free compilation of documents and research from various sources, including the International Monetary Fund (IMF), Financial Action Task Force (FATF), U.S. Department of the Treasury, and ACAMS' own publications, ACAMS moneylaundering.com and ACAMS Today magazine. In addition to published articles and research papers, the website features podcasts and interviews with counter-terrorism experts.

ACAMS Executive Vice President, John J. Byrne, CAMS, believes the resource website provides professionals with essential knowledge to thwart terrorists, "The new terrorist financing website is a collection of resources that has been curated from various sources to bring counter-terrorism best practices to AML/CTF professionals." Byrne explains that the website will be updated on a regular basis, "Terrorists are constantly seeking to exploit vulnerabilities, so as they change their strategies, we must also strive to stay one step ahead of them."

In addition to the terrorist financing resource page, ACAMS also has a free website dedicated to human trafficking issues, also with published articles, research papers, and links to various organizations.
